BIOAGRONOMIC CHARACTERISTICS

KINDOL CRIO is an extract obtained from the cold pressing of seeds of the fruits of Azadirachta Indica, a plant native to India that is used for multiple uses. Considering the multiple antiviral, antibacterial, etc. properties it presents, Azadirachta Indica oil can be applied as an adjuvant in root and foliar applications, making the product suitable for the protection of the plant species from biotic adversities. In addition to Azadirachta Indica oil, the product contains noble fatty acids, especially phospholipids, and important amounts of vitamins E that allow the plant to reduce stress derived from multiple problems.
